THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN JOB AND WORK

Job= A full or part-time position of paid employment

It is a countable noun.

e.g. I had seven jobs in the past 5 years

Work= refers to general efforts and activities done to accomplish a goal.

- It refers also to the context of your place of employment

  - We can say work at / for (a company): "I work at General Motors."
  - We can say you're working on (a project / task): "I'm working on a market analysis" or "I'm working on improving customer satisfaction."
  - We can say you work with (people / objects): "I work with special needs children" or "I work with hazardous chemicals."

Unlike the word job, work is an uncountable noun.

We can't say:

~~I have three works to do this week.~~

But rather:

I have three projects or tasks to do this week.

TYPES/ CATEGORIES OF JOBS

Blue Collar Jobs

Where workers have to perform manual labor, often at an hourly wage

e.g.

White Collar Jobs

White-collar workers are suit-and-tie workers who work at a desk

e.g.

Accountant

HR manager

Bank officer

Director

Professionals

People who are highly qualified and their job is highly respected all over the word.

e.g.

Doctors

Engineers

Lawyers

Academics

People whose main job is to teach, read and write a lot.

e.g

Teacher

College Professor

Writer

Celebrities

Famous people who belong to the élites class

e.g. Professional football players

Actors

Singers
